Commies Stalling On Truce

That Is Impression Allies Get After Inclusive Morning Session of Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 9.—(P)—Truce negotiators cancelled their afternoon meeting today after an "inconclusive and unproductive" morning session.

A United Nations command communiqué, which described the talks as fruitless, said negotiators would meet tomorrow at 11 a.m. (3 p.m. Friday, CST).

Big Gen. William P. Nuckolls, U.N. spokesman, said he got the impression Communist representatives might be stalling.

Allied sources suggested the Reds might be waiting for new instructions in view of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's proposal Thursday in Paris for a cease-fire within ten days.

Chinese Bring Up Troops
On the fighting front Reds were reported shoving in a new Chinese army corps (30,000 men) to bolster its central front around Kumsong and mashing tanks on the western sector facing Yonchon. Communist troops probed along both fronts in sub-zero weather.

An Allied briefing officer said the Chinese have moved up enough armor and artillery to be "capable of launching a limited offensive" on the western front.

Down 3 Red Jets

Allied warplanes sent three Communist jets crashing to the ground in flames today, the U.S. Fifth air force reported.

Two other Russian-made MIG-15s were damaged. The air force said all Allied planes returned safely to base.

Two aerial duels were fought over northwest Korea, with 52 American jets pitted against about 50 Communist planes. It was one of the few times the two sides had met on near-even terms.

On the ground, Chinese forces threw a series of small attacks before daylight at Allied positions near Yonchon and Kumsong. Yonchon is in the west, Kumsong on the central front.

The temperature dipped to 17 degrees Thursday night. The ground was white with frost.

Peiping Radio Denies UN Truce Statement

TOKYO, Friday, Nov. 9.—(P)—The Peiping radio today denied allied statements that the Communists were insisting on an immediate, inflexible military demarcation line in Korea.

A broadcast quoted "a responsible member" of the Communist truce delegation at Kaesong as saying "the statements and communications put out by the American side are in utter contradiction to the facts."

Charles Taft Into Governor Race In Ohio

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9.—(P)—Charles P. Taft, brother of Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio.

Charles Taft, 54, who like his brother is an attorney, has been prominent in church work, in politics and in civic enterprises for many years. Robert, 62, is a candidate for Republican nomination for president.

At Kansas City, Senator Taft said he was going to maintain a hands-off policy in the Ohio primary campaign.

"I'm not going to take any part in the primary campaign in Ohio, either in behalf of or against my brother," he told a news conference.

Senator Taft is in Kansas City for meetings with Republican leaders.

Schools' Facilities Give to Chest Fund

Contributions from the faculty members of the various Sedalia schools were turned into the Community Chest fund today.

The amount contributed by the faculty of each school follows: Mark Twain, $48; Hubbard, $35.25; Horace Mann, $67; Jefferson, $13.50; Smith-Cotton cafeteria, $7; Whittier, $44.50; Smith-Cotton high school, $221.80; Broadway, $50, and Washington, $55.50.

C. of C. Annual Meet Tonight at S-C High

The annual Chamber of Commerce banquet will be held at 6:30 Friday evening in the cafeteria at Smith-Cotton high school at which time Dr. Howard T. Hill, Manhattan, Kas., will be the principal speaker.

Miner Crushed to Death

MACON, Mo., Nov. 9.—(P)—A miner was crushed to death yesterday in a rock fall at a coal mine.

Art Lewellyn, owner of the mine four miles southwest of here said Homer Handister, about 50, was working alone in a room about 70 feet underground at the time.

N. Y. Times Says Democrats Offer Truman Backing to Ike

Writer Says Republican Whose Standing Is Very High Gave Him Report of Two Visits to General In Past Five Weeks

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(P)—The New York Times said today Democrats have visited Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Paris twice within five weeks and promised him President Truman's support for the 1952 presidential nomination.

The visits, the Times said, appeared to be part of a "much more active and organized campaign than has been generally known" to get Eisenhower as the Democratic nominee.

Arthur Krock, the Washington correspondent for the newspaper, wrote that he received his information from a Republican who should know and whose "standing in the nation is very high indeed."

Not a Dixiecrat
First, the article said, Eisenhower was approached by a Democrat "described as very influential in the party and not associated with the southern opponents of the President."

Later, Krock quoted the Republican source, "a group of similar type" also called on the general.

On each occasion, the story said, the same statement was made to Eisenhower. Krock elaborated: "It was that if, at any time before the Democratic national convention, he would say he would accept its presidential nomination, his visitors were convinced they could 'guarantee' it and he could count on the support of President Truman."

"Gen. Eisenhower's reported reply was: 'You can't join a party just to run for office. What reason have you to think I have ever been a Democrat?'"

The story said Eisenhower told about the proposition to a friend on his recent visit to this country, with the remark:

Quotes His Being a GOP

"You know I have been a Republican all my life and that my family has always been Republican."

Krock said evidence was growing that President Truman had offered to support Eisenhower in "the culminating point in a major enterprise by important Democrats that seems to have failed."

The writer made his statements in a follow-up to an article published yesterday in which he had said a "thoroughly reliable and informed source" told him Mr. Truman had offered such support.

Story Is Denied
The President commented: "There is not a word of truth in it."

And, in Europe, aides at Eisenhower's supreme allied headquarters described the original story as "purely fictional."

There was no immediate comment from Mr. Truman or Eisenhower on Krock's second story.

But Krock continued in today's story that his original informant was sticking by his guns.

And the correspondent added that the source was "a northern Democrat" who "has no conceivable motive in giving out misinformation on the subject, and his credentials as one who would know the facts are excellent."

Taft Believes Story
In Kansas City, Senator Taft (R-Ohio), avowed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said he had great respect for the accuracy of the Times and thus thought "there probably was something" to the story.

But Senator Anderson (D-NM), an old friend of the President and former secretary of agriculture, said he talked by telephone with Mr. Truman, who convinced him "there wasn't a word of truth in it."

Eisenhower Boosted, So Is Gov. Warren

By The Associated Press

The movement to "draft Eisenhower" for the Republican presidential nomination got a boost from his backers in New Hampshire today while friends of Gov. Earl Warren of California maneuvered to boom him for the top GOP spot.

Although Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has not publicly said yet whether he is a Republican or a Democrat, a group of state GOP leaders met at Concord, N.H., and laid plans to put his name on the ballot in that state's presidential primary, coming in March.

They can easily do that since it only requires a petition signed by 50 voters in each of the state's two congressional districts. Eisenhower does not have to give his consent.

GOP leaders in California sent a letter to Warren urging that he again seek the party's nomination as he did in 1944 and in 1948. In 1948, he wound up as the nominee for vice-president.

Warren had no immediate comment.

Warren Word in Week
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 9.—(P)—Governor Earl Warren said today he will announce within a week whether he will seek the Republican nomination for President in 1952.

His statement came at a news conference in response to a letter sent out by state Republican leaders urging him to run for president.

Sedalian, Harvey Dow, 100,000th Wadsworth Patient

WADSWORTH, Kas., Nov. 9.—(P)—Harvey D. Dow, Sedalia, Mo., is the 100,000th patient to be admitted to the Veterans Administration medical center here since the hospital was completed in 1933.

Dow, 76-year-old attorney, and former member of the Missouri Legislature, was admitted to the hospital yesterday. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

Murray Renamed CIO Head

But No Move Made Toward Merger With AFL Today At Convention

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(P)—Philip Murray, 65-year-old former coal miner, was re-elected today to his 12th year as president of the CIO after a confetti-throwing demonstration by shouting convention delegates.

Murray's name was put into nomination by Jacob Potofsky, head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, who called Murray "not only a union leader but a leader of mankind."

Election of officers followed the passage of resolutions calling for intensified political action next year and authorizing Murray and other officers to pursue whatever avenues toward labor unity that may develop.

Merger Seems Remote
Possibility of a CIO-AFL merger appeared remote, however. Murray has declared the CIO against immediate merger while favoring cooperation between the two big labor groups.

After the AFL made overtures for amalgamation, there were rumors a week ago that the CIO and AFL might in some way overcome the differences which split them 17 years ago.

Talks about a merger broke off in August, 1930.

In the meantime, the AFL pointed out, there have been no direct talks about merger. AFL leaders blamed Murray, who has been ill a large part of the past 12 months.

On the other hand the CIO, in its resolution and in speeches of convention speakers, blamed the AFL for breaking up the United Labor Policy committee two months ago.

Support Truman Plan

The fact that Murray had no opposition for another year as president was in itself a development, because early in September he told his nine vice-presidents that he wanted to step out.

The convention last night adopted a resolution on foreign policy which, in effect, supported President Truman's apparently fruitless appeal to Soviet Russia to help end the armament and atomic race.

Nothing Indicates Ike Okey by Labor

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(P)—A labor official today declared he could find nothing to indicate that General Dwight D. Eisenhower would be "an acceptable candidate for president as far as organized labor is concerned."

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers, drew heavy applause from the CIO national convention when he declared, that, speaking for himself, he was opposed to General Eisenhower as president.

"I have carefully examined the record of Gen. Eisenhower and I want to say that I find nothing in his record which would indicate that he is an acceptable candidate for president as far as organized labor is concerned."

U.S. Calls for Russia to Talk Disarmament Now, Not In June

Jessup Charges Soviet Is Trying To By-Pass U. N.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—(P)—The United States called on Russia today to start immediate talks in the United Nations on disarmament instead of waiting until some time before June of next year.

U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup threw out the challenge at a specially called news conference where he also charged the Russians with trying to bypass the UN in asking for a world-wide meeting on arms reduction.

The UN assembly itself received a formal complaint from Yugoslavia that Russia and her satellites are trying to drive their peoples to the point of making war on Marshal Tito's lone wolf Communist state.

Slav Charges Russians

Yugoslavia has made many charges against Russia and the other Communist nations since Tito split with the Cominform in 1948, but this was the first formal complaint of that nature filed with the UN.

The Yugoslav complaint said Russia and her satellites have been exercising aggressive pressure against Tito with the aim of threatening Yugoslavia's territorial integrity and national independence.

Russia's proposal for a world arms conference before June, 1952, was in reply to the U.S. plan for progressive reduction in both conventional and atomic weapons after an accurate arms census.

U.S. Has Support

Jessup told newsmen the United States, with the support of Britain and France, would push for quick UN action on arms reduction despite Soviet refusal to accept the western plan, which Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky said yesterday made him laugh.

In a caustic assessment of Russian tactics, Jessup said the Soviet Union would have the world believe that peace could be had by the mere waving of a magic wand. The western view, he said, was that the working out of a permanent peace demands long and arduous work on a detailed program.

U.S. "Urges," Not "Insists"

Jessup denied that President Truman had "insisted" upon Soviet acceptance of the western proposal, as Vishinsky had declared to the assembly yesterday. Jessup said the President had "urged" Russia to accept.

The tough talk between Russia and the United States spurred the smaller powers to plead for greater collective security against the possibility of another Korea.

Representatives of Cuba, Honduras and New Zealand were among those who spoke to the assembly today.

3 Airmen Killed In Flaming Crash Of B-29 Bomber

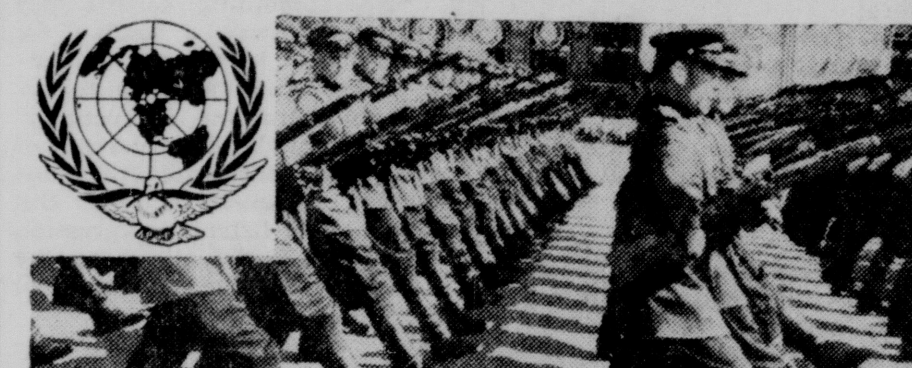

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 8.—(P)—Three airmen are known dead, one missing and 11 are safe after the flaming crash of a B-29 near Kelly Air Force base tonight.

The Superfort, on a routine training flight from nearby Randolph Air Force base, fell on the western outskirts of San Antonio. Eye-witnesses said they saw three or four parachutes come from the plane before it crashed.

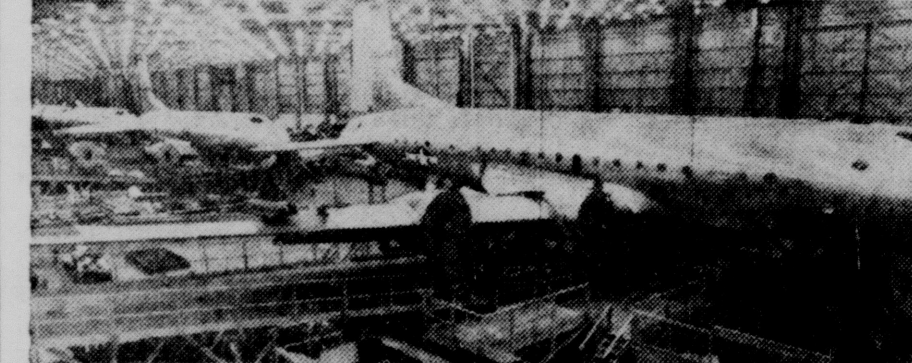

All those who escaped were hospitalized at Kelly AFB hospital. Their condition was not disclosed. The plane carried four instructors and 11 student airmen.

Sgt. Robert A. Ward, stationed at Lackland, was one of the first persons to arrive at the scene of the crash.

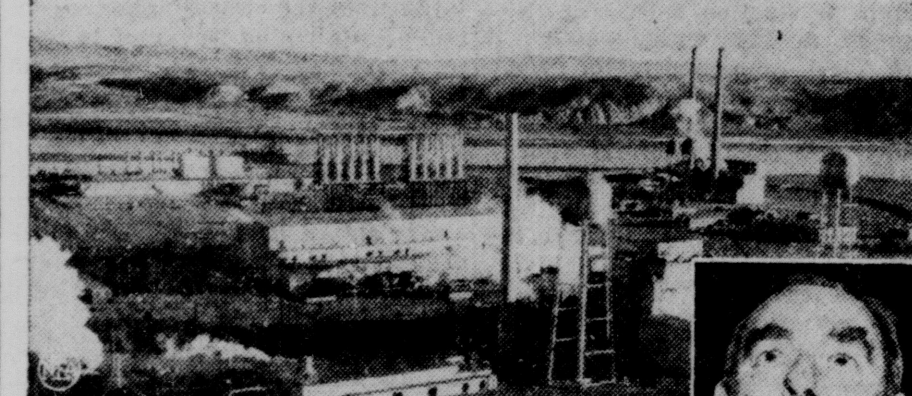

"She (the plane) was headed straight in," Ward said. "But as altitude dropped, I could see sparks flying from the engine. Just before it crashed, there was a huge flash of white sparks from one of the engines like a Fourth of July fireworks display."

Worldwide arms census would require each nation to report number of troops, A-bombs, tanks, planes, ships and military production facilities it has. Troops above are Russians on parade in Moscow.

Enforceable limits would be placed on arms production, weapons stockpiles and armed forces. A nation's armament limit might be determined by its population and overall economic structure.

UN teams, under a Baruch-inspired atomic energy control program, would be empowered to make a country-by-country inspection of atomic energy facilities like the Hanford, Wash., plant above. Military establishments of all kinds would also be open to inspection.

Johnson Co. Again Under Rent Control

Citizens Requested Move When Air Base Was Reactivated

Rent controls are being returned to Johnson county and go into effect as of Nov. 10. The purpose of the controls is to place Johnson county in a "critical area."

No action on placing Sedalia on the "critical list" has been taken by the government, but this area is under controls on all housing units built prior to February 1, 1947. Until Sedalia is found to be inadequate in housing the government will not take any such action as placing this area on the "critical list."

Placing of Johnson county under the controls came upon the request of a board appointed in that county recently. The order was given Thursday by Rent Stabilizer Tighe E. Woods, Washington, D.C.

Warrensburg became alarmed with the announcement of the reactivation of the Sedalia Air Force Base, Knob Noster, which is located in eastern Johnson county. Citizens fearing a housing shortage and a possible rent gouging might occur, requested the controls.

Rental ceilings will be established throughout Johnson county in which the base is located, Woods said. Rents in the area were decontrolled in 1949, when housing there appeared adequate.

At the same time, Woods announced immediate lifting of controls from hotels in the quad-city area of Illinois and Iowa. The area, including Moline, East Moline and Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, has been certified as a critical defense housing area and subjected to rent controls.

Jap Freighter Reported In Distress In Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—(P)—The Japanese freighter Kinugasa Maru, with 42 men aboard, was reported in distress in the North Pacific early today.

The RCA radiomarine station at Pt. Reyes, Calif., said it picked up an SOS from the 4,971-ton vessel saying she was in need of immediate rescue. The number "three" hold was reported flooding.

The vessel's position was given as approximately midway between Japan and the Aleutian Islands.

4-H Club Recognition Banquet At S-C Cafeteria Saturday Eve

The first annual Pettis county 4-H Club Achievement banquet given by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce will be held at 6:30 Saturday night in the Smith-Cotton high school cafeteria sponsored by the agriculture committee of the C. of C.

The turkey dinner will be served cafeteria style to 4-H club members, their parents and leaders. An attendance of about 800 is expected.

Members of the agriculture committee, board of directors and other members who care to help will receive the guests and assist with the serving.

Ivan Berry, a member of the agriculture committee, voluntarily donated 10 turkeys for the banquet.

Following the banquet all will go to the auditorium of the high school for the program and then will return to the cafeteria for recreation and play.

The entire program was set up by the agriculture committee and invitations were sent out to the 4-H members, parents and leaders.

Czech Envoy Called a Spy By Probers

Senators Say Oto Biheler Gathered U. S. Military Data

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(P)—A Czech diplomat assigned to duty here has been described by Senate internal security investigators as a top Communist spy.

He was named by Senators McCarran (D-Nev) and O'Connor (D-Md.) last night as Col. Oto Biheler, military and air attaché to the Czechoslovakian embassy. The senators said he is now in Czechoslovakia.

McCarran, chairman of the Senate internal security committee, said "It is known to our intelligence agents that Biheler, for two years, has been gathering information on this country's research into bacteriological warfare and atomic weapons and other advanced methods of defense."

"Key In Spy Ring"

In a separate statement, O'Connor described the Czech as a "key figure in the Communist espionage apparatus in the United States."

O'Connor heads a subcommittee which has been probing into the administration of provisions of the internal security law relating to subversive aliens.

That act, passed last year over President Truman's veto, allows the Justice department to bar subversive aliens from this country or deport them even if they have diplomatic status.

O'Connor said the information he detailed about Biheler's activities was confirmed in a secret hearing over which he presided Wednesday.

State Dept. "No Comment"

At the State department, officials said there would be no comment, at least until they had seen the senatorial reports. No one in authority was available for comment at the Czech embassy.

Both McCarran and O'Connor coupled their discussions of Biheler with new criticism of the State and Justice departments over the way the Internal Security Act is being administered.

Declaring that the record of Biheler is "typical of hundreds" of cases which have been handled by O'Connor's subcommittee in recent months, McCarran said:

"It would seem that the State department does not wish to impede the activities of these people and the Justice department does not recognize the authority Congress has given it."

NY Dock Strike Settled

Wildcat Walkout Leaders Agree To End Tie-up After 25th Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—(P)—Striking longshoremen flocked back to freight-jammed piers today after their leaders agreed to end the port's billion-dollar, 25-day wildcat walkout.

Along the miles of waterfront from Hoboken and Jersey City, N. J., to the far reaches of Brooklyn, thousands streamed to work before the noon (CST) deadline set by their leaders.

There were jobs aplenty for all at the long-idle piers in Hoboken. Police were helping round up extra men.

Union Yields to Board

The rebel union faction, which steamrollered the strike into New York's longest port tie-up, yielded to a New York fact-finding board in the pre-dawn hours to end the strike.

The strike was the costliest in the history of the world's biggest port, with piers sprawled along both New York and New Jersey. At the peak of the walkout, 114 ships were tied up.

New York State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi who appointed the 3-man inquiry panel, announced shortly before 2 a.m. (EST) that the ports of New York and Boston would be open at 1 p.m. (EST) today.

Boston Also Open

Boston was the only other port completely shut down by the strike, with other east coast ports being affected from time to time.

In New York, an increasing number of dockers had been returning to work on non-military ships in recent days.

Corsi's announcement followed a four-hour closed meeting between representatives of rebel longshoremen and the panel.

All the stevedores are members of the AFL International Longshoremen's association (ILA), whose Atlantic coast district represents 65,000 dock workers from Maine to Virginia.

20,000 Workers Affected

More than 20,000 dockers were affected by the minority walkout, which began over ratification Oct. 12 of a new ILA contract with east coast shipping and stevedoring companies. The dissident group, led by John (Gene) Sampson, went out three days later.

Pickets, aided by motorcades of strikers, barred entrance to the docks by non-striking ILA members. In many instances, fists and rocks flew during the dispute, but no serious incidents occurred. In some instances, workers went to and from the docks aided by police details.

Meanwhile cargoes piled up on the docks and warehouses, with only military ships being worked. They, too, were tied up for a short time at the start of the strike.

In announcing the back-to-work move, Corsi made no mention of concessions, if any, coming from the strike side. He said the inquiry board would continue its public hearings on the dispute.

The board urged "that there be no discrimination in hiring or rehiring" and added:

"The strike committee lent its cooperation to the board of inquiry in full recognition of the necessity of protecting the port of New York and of the public interest."

THE STORY: The visit of Courtney Benson, a family friend, and her mother, Elizabeth, to the Steinhardt estate, to Black Fir, where Elizabeth Benson is nurse to Mrs. Lucien Steinhardt, brings an unexpected twist to the story. Elizabeth, usually tiring, retires, but is awakened later by Lucien, granddaughters of Mrs. Steinhardt, who says that Benson is missing.

edge of something amiss, she awoke.

Her eyes swung to the mirror. Even in the semi-light the slow rise and fall of Emily Steinhardt's even breathing was discernable. Everything was the same. Or was it? That bulky shadow near the foot of the bed hadn't been there before!

She narrowed her lids against the orange-pink glow and her pulses quickened. The round-shouldered slack-armed posture was familiar. It belonged to Oliver Steinhardt. Elizabeth grew taut.

If anyone had a right to be standing beside his mother's bed in the long silent hours of the night, it was her son. Yet there was a sinister about the way he watched there unmoving. Elizabeth studied him uneasily. Then suddenly she made up her mind and reached for her flannel robe.

Ollie's head turned swiftly. The night light caught his thick lenses, momentarily turned him into the frightening reincarnation of some other-worldly monster. He began to tiptoe toward Elizabeth.

His whisper was hoarse, premonitory.

"Come into the hall, my dear."

An electric candelabrum dimly lighted the upstairs landing. Its tiny frosted globes, reflected in the dark waxed paneling, were of little practical use. Ollie was still dressed in the belted pepper and salt tweed he wore on his bug-hunting expeditions. Seeing him still in it startled Elizabeth. She glanced at her wrist watch. It was 3:30! She had slept much longer than she had dreamed.

Ollie's hands were twisted together again, white with tension.

"We can't find Courtney."

"Oh. Doesn't he know his way through the woods? Back from the dam?"

He peered at her interestedly.

"How did you know he was at the dam, my dear?"

General Ike Enjoyed Most His Grandchildren and Bridge

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Next to his grandchildren, what General Eisenhower enjoyed most in Washington was playing bridge with Chief Justice Fred Vinson, ex-White House jester George Allen and Sid Richardson, the Texas oil man.

Early in the game when Allen was winning, he remarked to Eisenhower, who is supposed to be one of the best bridge players in the country:

"I'm going to take an hour off every day to give you lessons."

Later Eisenhower started winning.

"I think I had better arrange for you to come over to Paris and play cards," he remarked solemnly to Allen.

The luncheon Eisenhower had with President Truman was highlighted by the general's view both on peace and the difficulties of the job in Europe.

Eisenhower told Truman that he had no intention of leaving his post in Paris until his job was done. Then emphasizing his agreement with Truman that peace is the greatest issue in the world and that we can achieve peace only through strength, the general added something to this effect: "Every time I look at the picture of my grandchildren, I know how everything else is unimportant."

Truman added something to the effect that he would go to bat for Eisenhower on whatever he needed to do the job in western Europe.

After Ike left town, someone asked George Allen: "When do you think Eisenhower will announce his intentions?"

"You know I don't badger Ike about politics," replied Allen in his Mississippi drawl. "I just play cards and joke with him. But if I were to go way out on a limb, I would say on the second ballot."

This somewhat inconclusive comment was interpreted as meaning that Eisenhower would run, but only at the last minute. He cannot leave Europe until sometime next spring. The rearmament program is dragging and he feels he cannot launch a political career until he has the job reasonably well under way.

Whether Republican politicians, now eyeing the Taft bandwagon, can wait until "the second ballot" — in other words until the last minute before the Republican convention — remains to be seen.

However, Eisenhower did reveal to at least one friend during his visit that he was not at all optimistic issues he sided with the Republicans in that he felt that Washington needed a housecleaning. But on foreign policy he said he sided with the Democrats. In fact, he went so far as to indicate that if Senator Taft was the Republican nominee, he Eisenhower would not only not support him but might even consider running against him as a Democrat.

Truman's Cronies

Rather sadly, President Truman told new Democratic chairman Frank McKinney that "friends" had let him down.

The comment came after the President urged Hoosier banker McKinney to clean house in both the Democratic party and administration. "I might have to step on the toes of some of your friends, Mr. President," McKinney replied. "I'm loyal to my friends," said

"What time was that?"

"Eleven-thirty."

"Hmmm. Lucia is a sly minx. She's been sitting up waiting for him. Finally her impatience got the better of her—she came to me about 2 o'clock. I went back to the mill-race. I know the path like the palm of my hand. Didn't see a thing. The moonlight was fading. Now it's very dark outside."

"Perhaps Mr. Benson has simply lost his way."

Ollie shook his head emphatically. "No, something serious has happened. I have a feeling for these things, a heightened perception. Black Fir has been throbbing with vibrations all evening."

If he meant the undercurrent of hostility that permeated the conversation, Elizabeth agreed. But he had a queer listening expressed as if he could actually hear the old mansion tremble with mystical vibrations.

"But we've got to look for Courtney."

"I should think so."

He licked his lips. "You see, Missie, there isn't a lantern or a flashlight at Black Fir."

Ollie's face was screwed up in concentration. He was trying to tell her something without putting it into frank actual words. She felt very stupid. "What about your butterfly lantern?" she asked.

"Broke it this evening, unfortunately. Stumbled over a rock. Quite unrepairable. Don't you see what I mean?"

"I'm afraid I don't."

He tapped his fingertips together. "You're making it very difficult for me, Miss. The fact is, we were wondering... that is, would you mind phoning the lumber camp and asking young Devanter to lend us a lantern? You see, none of us are friendly with him—"

"You said you liked Bill," she interrupted.

"I do personally, but after all, I am a Steinhardt!"

She stared at him for a long incredulous moment before she began to descend the gloomy stairway.

4 Firms Report Daring Thefts Here Thursday

Four daylight robberies and break-ins were reported to Sedalia police within a half-hour's time Thursday by local business and professional men. Nearly $250 was stolen by the thief or thieves.

The largest loot was taken from the Owen Tire Company, Seventh and Ohio, at 3:07 p.m. The employees were working in the back of the building when they heard the cash register ring. They looked-up and saw a man, described to be between 30 and 40 years old, wearing a blue-gray suit without a hat and of medium build, making a quick exit. One of the employees gave up pursuit after a short chase.

Upon investigation by the management, it was estimated that $194 was missing.

The other three robberies took place in the offices at the Ilgenfritz building, Third and Ohio. The only break-in that netted the robber any loot was in the Fischer and Fischer office, where $50 was taken. The other offices entered were Dr. H. B. Hunter's and Jack Crawford's.

Clean-up Man

The GOP campaign letter also attacks the man Truman appointed to clean up the internal revenue bureau—commissioner John Dunlap.

"There is nothing on the record to show that there would have been any attempt at a clean-up within the bureau, except for outside prodding," declares the GOP brochure. "It was not until after several cases had been exposed to the public view that the commissioner of internal revenue, John Dunlap, on October 3 ordered an investigation of the tax returns of

Merry-Go-Round Pioneer

The interesting thing about the 27 case histories, prepared by the GOP policy committee, is that they are headed by Daniel A. Bolich, formerly No. 2 man in the internal revenue bureau, who requested re-assignment last August because of his "health." However, no official charges have been made against Bolich, and the GOP research guide underlines this fact to keep Republican speakers out of a law suit.

Of Bolich, the GOP states: "Included only because during revelations of irregularities, Bolich requested re-assignment for reasons of health, August 14, 1951. . . . No charges have been made against Bolich." These were the only underlined passages in the pamphlet.

Thus the pamphlet has laid down the line that GOP speakers will be following on the soapbox circuit.

Note — This column began investigating the internal revenue bureau three years ago, was the first to expose the tax scandals that led to the dismissal of collectors James W. Johnson in New York City and James Smythe in San Francisco.

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

Cold weather and snow has given the teen-agers of Sedalia varying impulses, some good and others bad, especially as to safety. Those in the lower bracket of that range in youth, especially those possessing ice skates, not too numerous in numbers, have been eager to clomp them on their shoes and take a whirl over Liberty park lake, or other convenient spots. But the freeze has been insufficient for them to enjoy such sport thus far.

Boys and some girls with sleds have been loping ropes over the rear bumpers of cars in some parts of the city, heedless of the extreme danger involved as they reach intersections of thoroughfares, or if the driver of a car make a sudden turn.

This practice seems somewhat diminished from former years as the snows fell, but the desire for a thrill in being pulled through slippery streets has not been dispelled despite the many dangers.

Fortunately, up to today, there have been no serious mishaps for the youngsters.

The police are giving attention to safeguards and are hopeful no serious injuries, or harm, befall any of the sledders.—W. D. A.

NATO Likely To Scale Down Defense Plan

Financial Straits Of Some Nations Causing Revision

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(P)—Administration officials said today the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) most likely will be called on to scaled down its Western European defense plan along lines recommended here this week by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Because of the financial difficulties of Britain and other allies, these officials said, it is almost certain that a 12-nation "wise men" group will propose the downward revision during the NATO council meeting opening Nov. 24 at Rome.

The committee headed by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman is due to submit its interim report at this session. Named at the Ottawa meeting in September, and there given the "wise men" designation, it is making a country-by-country survey of the ability of the NATO allies to bear the arms burden imposed by the 1950 "middle term" master plan.

This calls for a defense force of more than 90 divisions by mid-1954, which with air and naval backing was deemed sufficient by military planners to cope with a full scale invasion of Western Europe. The prospective downward revision means on its face fewer divisions by the target date, but, under General Eisenhower's recommendations, a force ready for action in the meantime.

In the light of inflationary troubles of France, Italy, and other nations, and Prime Minister Winston Churchill's warning that Britain faces the threat of national bankruptcy, American authorities are convinced a realistic shakedown is inescapable. Involved in this is the proposal pressed by Eisenhower for a speed-up of arms deliveries aimed at assuring an integrated fighting force-in-being of up to 30 divisions some time next year.

All the original and revised planning, reportedly, is based on the expectation that West Germany soon will be able and willing to start making a contribution.

Officials who have a direct role in top level arms planning indicated to a reporter that there is less worry in the administration over the risk of trimming the long range defense program than over the current economic troubles of the NATO allies.

The recent effect of the arms buildup on Western European economies is viewed as the threat of a genuine new crisis. Extent of the buildup was indicated by a State Department prediction yesterday that the rate of military production in Europe next year will be double what it was at the time of the attack on Korea.

New Church Movie Will Be Shown Sunday at Trinity

A coal mine cave-in and a holy communion service 200 feet down in a Pennsylvania coal mine are two of the dramatic scenes of "Salt of the Earth," the new religious motion picture of the United Lutheran Church in America, to be shown at Trinity Lutheran church, Tenth and Osage, at 8 o'clock on Sunday, Nov. 11. This special performance has been arranged by the pastor, the Rev. C. Arthur Freeberg, and the church council.

"Salt of the Earth" was produced as a special feature of the 30th anniversary of the United Lutheran church. The film has been scheduled for showings in all 4,000 congregations of the church body located in all parts of the United States and Canada. It was produced for the United Lutheran church by Cathedral Films of Hollywood.

"Salt of the Earth" is the authentic, heartwarming story of a coal miner, Harley Russell, who decides that a Christian must do something about his religion. The role is played by Robert Armstrong and the supporting cast includes the King's Men Quartet. The film was produced in a semi-documentary style with many of the scenes photographed in the Pennsylvania coal fields and farm land.

This is the second film produced by the United Lutheran Church. The first, "And Now I See," produced in 1948, is now being seen in all parts of the world. Like the new film, its theme was "Christian stewardship is the practice of Christian religion."

The public is cordially invited.

Seattle Leaves Welcome Mat Out for Mac Arthur
SEATTLE, Nov. 9.—(P)—Embroidered in charges by labor groups that General MacArthur's visit here next week has improper political implications, Seattle's Centennial celebration planners stood their ground today and left the "welcome mat" out.

The complaints were made by top AFL leaders in Seattle, the official paper for the AFL Teamsters' union and the Seattle-King County CIO council.

Taft to Seek GOP Vote, Not Independents' Wholly Republican Type Campaign Planned by Senator

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(P)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today this country now has offensive-smashing atomic weapons tailored and ready for battlefield use against the Communists in Korea "if necessary."

Eaton, who witnessed an atomic test in Nevada last week, told reporters the weapons can be used like artillery in support of ground forces and to slug the enemy. He added, however, that in the strict sense "it's not artillery—they are bombs."

The Montana senator said the weapons are available "in sufficient numbers" for possible use in Korea.

"If they (the Communists) want to throw the works at us, I believe they can be stopped," Eaton declared.

Parliament Probe Of Jane Russell's Visitor Urged

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(P)—A member of Parliament demanded an official inquiry today into the removal of a London baby from this country by Hollywood's buxom Jane Russell.

"We don't want to export babies to Hollywood or anywhere else," Laborite Marcus Lipton told newsmen.

He said he will bring the matter up in the House of Commons next Thursday as a formal question to Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, the home secretary.

The baby in the case is Thomas Kavanagh, 15-months-old son of a poor family in London's working-class district of Lambeth. His father, Michael, is a carpenter and Michael is one of three children.

The Kavanaghs live in a three-room flat which rents at 11 shillings, or $15.4 a week.

Mrs. Kavanagh says she entrusted the baby to Miss Russell for a three-month visit to America "because I thought he would have a better chance there."

Miss Russell has said she did not expect to adopt the child.

Britain Will Probably Ask For Dollar Aid

PARIS, Nov. 9.—(P)—Britain most likely will ask for new U. S. dollar aid to help pay her $13 billion share in rearming for western defense, an authoritative source disclosed here today.

Sir Edwin Plowden, British representative on a special North Atlantic treaty organization (NATO) committee meeting here, is expected to make a formal request for the aid sometime next week, a highly placed British informant said.

There have been reports recently that Britain might request new U. S. aid to help her financial position, made increasingly difficult by a growing deficit in foreign trade, inflation and the rearmament program.

12 Families of DP's Finding Homes in Mo.
ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9.—(P)—Thirty-seven displaced persons comprising 12 families arrived at Union Station yesterday to find new homes in Missouri.

Most of the new arrivals had escaped from Yugoslavia, Romania and the Communist zone of Germany.

Police Seek Owners Of $10,000 In Cash

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9.—(P)—Lose some money? Cleveland police today were looking for the owner of $10,000 found in a 1936 Chevrolet coupe abandoned on the east side.

The money, in $5, $10 and $20 bills, was lying on the front seat neatly wrapped in brown paper. Police could not immediately trace ownership of the car.

Next Move Up To Kremlin, Dean Acheson

Truman Resting After Presenting Plan to Russians

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 9.—(P)—President Truman today left the next moves up to Secretary of State Acheson—and to the Kremlin—in the diplomatic struggles now centered in the United Nations general assembly at Paris.

For the next few days, at least, the president plans to concentrate on resting, and, if the sun comes out, swimming and tanning.

Mr. Truman flew here yesterday from Washington after a major speech Wednesday night challenging Russia to accept an American-British-French peace proposal involving a census of all war weapons, including atomic.

Having laid down American policy, the president left it up to Acheson to carry on in Paris where the Secretary of State heads the United States U. N. delegation.

Not Surprised at Reds

Associates said he was not at all surprised by the efforts of Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky of Russia to laugh off the proposal for reducing armaments with safeguards which have constant inspection as the principal protection.

Mr. Truman was represented as believing that the tri-partite proposal can not be laughed off as easily as the Russians would like.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told reporters he hasn't received any official reaction beyond official statements published in the press.

Reports From Embassies

The next mail pouch from Washington, however, will bring official reports from at least some of the embassies abroad.

The president has other things over which to ponder while here—whether, for instance, he will announce for re-election. He has already said he will disclose his decision only after he has completed work on his three major messages to be presented to Congress in January—the "State of the Union," the budget and the economic messages.

Actual preliminary work on them will not begin before Monday.

For the next two or three days Short told reporters, the president plans to rest. Then he will start work as usual, except that he will not have the usual interruptions from official callers at the White House.

A MAN AND HIS GRANDSON—Though he carries the burden of defending a continent and is harassed by those who want to learn if he's a presidential candidate, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower still has time to be a grandfather, a very devoted one. This very human photo-study of the general and his grandson, Dwight David, age 3 1/2, was taken at Ft. Knox, Ky., where Eisenhower saw his son and family for the first time in almost a year. Though pressed by newsmen and photographers, "Ike" managed to whisper such a secret into the little boy's ear as to set his eyes shining, his head almost bursting with excitement.

Hollywood Has Fancy Diets, But They Can Afford Them

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD—(P)—Nearly everybody—from Mario Lanza to Francis—diets in Hollywood.

Of course, dieting has become a national pastime, particularly since doctors have found overweight is a cause of heart trouble and other disorders. But diet is more than a matter of health in the movie capital; it means an actor's livelihood. Many actors are suspended from salary if they exceed a certain weight and can not report for work until they scale down to the studios' ideas of slimmness.

Nearly every player reduces differently. Judy Garland, whose poundage was partly the cause of her severance with MGM, has tried several means of reducing. Nearly all have led to ill health, but now she claims to have a new method from a doctor recommended to her by Marlene Dietrich. Judy takes a formula which eliminates her appetite after the first few bites of food.

Lex Barker is another who must adhere to a certain weight or else. He generally has to drop 15 pounds to make tree-climbing weight whenever he makes a Tarzan picture. He does it with heavy exercise, tennis and golf plus a high-protein diet. That means a lot of meat, and I guess he can afford it.

Mario Lanza has Hollywood's biggest poundage problem. He sometimes has to take off as much as 80 pounds before he starts a picture. His method is roadwork and other exercise, plus a diet of eggs, steaks and tomatoes.

Very few players can afford the luxury of a big lunch. Lana Turner has a salad every day, no dressing or bread, thanks, Betty Hutton rips into a steak and that's all, brother. Robert Taylor's lunch usually consists of a cup of coffee. Vera-Ellen is a fruit hound and can consume two boxes of strawberries at one sitting.

Walter Pidgeon has a unique method of staying trim. One day a week he eats no solids, existing merely on liquids. Kathryn Grayson has a special slimming drink—half buttermilk and half tomato juice. Ugh.

Anthony Quinn goes in for a modified Gaylord Hauser diet, including wheat germ, yogurt, honey and blackstrap molasses. Marilyn Maxwell eats whatever she wants, but in smaller amounts. You can see Red Skelton running around the Beverly Hills streets when he's on a reducing bender, and Edmond O'Brien treads the UCLA track. Judy Holliday had to shelve 25 pounds for her current picture. How? "I suffer," she replied. "I refrain from the thing I enjoy a great deal—eating."

Elsa Lanchester, who does her songs nightly at the Turnabout theater when she's in town, eats little all day, reserving dinner for midnight. Her husband, Charles Laughton, does not diet. Obviously.

Yes, even Francis has problems. He gets more barrel-like between pictures and has to cut down on his oats and run around the Universal back lot.

NPA Denies Construction Applications

Says 63 Percent Of Requests Get Official Turn Down

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(P)—The National Production Authority (NPA) reported today that it had denied 63 per cent of the construction applications for this quarter and may be still tougher in the first quarter of next year.

Price control chiefs were revamping regulations affecting 100,000 manufacturers, and said generally higher price ceilings may be expected on many consumer goods as a result.

And a halt was ordered in the government stockpiling of tin so that all available supplies can go to industry to speed defense production.

The NPA report on building permits was based on applications representing more than $1,000,000,000 worth of commercial and other construction, most of which must be deferred until materials are available.

The agency said it was unable to permit the start of any project not connected with defense directly or indirectly, except a small number of hardship cases in which buildings had been destroyed by fire, flood or other disaster.

The construction controls division now is handling applications for the January-through-March quarter. For that period, the report said, "It is unlikely that approval will be given to any pro-

As in the present quarter, approval will be given only to projects of a military or defense-supporting nature.

In making allotments of steel, copper and aluminum for the office buildings, banks, stores, churches, service stations and other structures approved, NPA said it provided only 15 per cent of the steel requested, 3.6 per cent of the copper, and none of the aluminum.

A total of 3,834 applications was filed. Of these, 2,419 were denied. Another 907 proved to be exempt

(Jude 1:24, 25). Protestant Church Cooperation Growing

Cooperation between the churches on the broadest possible scale is being increasingly recognized as a vital need of American Protestantism.

The need was stressed last week when delegates to the National Convocation on the Church in Town and Country at Portland, Ore., were warned that only through unified planning and organizations can the Protestant churches "achieve their best interests."

Sponsored by the National Council of Churches, the convocation focussed special attention on the Columbia River basin irrigation area which was described as Protestantism's most promising mission field in the coming decade and a particular challenge to its cooperative spirit.

"Since many towns will be built, virtually complete, from the blueprint stage, the Columbia basin area presents a great opportunity in Christian cooperation," declared the Rev. Ross W. Sanderson, Congregational Christian Churches executive, who has studied church problems of many irrigation projects.

The need for a cooperative church program was emphasized also by Arthur L. Frederick, executive secretary of the Washington-Northern Idaho Council of Churches, who said that "the churches of the State of Washington simply do not have the resources, financial and otherwise, to cope with the problem alone."

One of the major actions of the Portland convocation was to name a five-man committee, each representing the rural life department of a different denomination, to work with the Washington-Northern Idaho Council in mobilizing outside support for the church program in the Columbia River basin.

Prior to the opening of the convocation, more than 30 prominent Protestant ministers and laymen from various parts of the country made a three-day, 600-mile tour of Washington and Oregon. The tour gave them an insight into the successes already achieved through the cooperative activities of eleven Protestant denominations in the vast reaches of the Columbia basin.

The churchmen visited the community church of Grand Coulee, started some 17 years ago. They took part in the rededication of the present community church in the City of Coulee Dam and in the cornerstone laying ceremony of an adjoining new building. They visited several other churches in the basin and saw evidences of the success of community churches sponsored by various denominations through allocations by the church planning and strategy department of the Washington-Northern Idaho Council.

While the Portland delegates were discussing problems of church cooperation in the Pacific Northwest area, a report was issued in Chicago which showed that nearly 5,000 Protestant cooperative efforts are now under way around the country.

Deliverance From Bondage
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

As Moses is a type of the great liberator, so the story of the people whom he delivered, through dangers and difficulties, has become typical of general release from bondage.

That story exemplifies the obstacles that have confronted liberty-loving leaders in almost every movement from bondage to freedom. One cannot be sure that these obstacles are not the most effective barriers against liberty in our present-day world, in which despite all progress, millions of people under the heel of dictators and oppressors.

The greatest obstacle that Moses encountered was in the people themselves. It was a fellow Jew who compelled him to escape to Midian when, seeking to effect peace between two Jews in conflict, he discovered that his killing of an Egyptian, in an earlier conflict between an Egyptian and a Jew, was known.

He had to contend with the apathy of man, and the lack of vision and actual rebelliousness of those who, when distress came upon them, failed to see the allurements of a Promised Land, and sighed for "the flesh pots of Egypt," though those flesh pots had never been theirs in their days of hard oppression and labor.

It has ever been so, and it is so today. It is a profound mistake to believe that all men are inherently devoted to freedom or they are willing to pay the price of its attainment. . . . And it is equally a mistake to assume that all who love liberty for themselves are willing, with notable exceptions, to undergo sacrifices and labors for the attainment of similar liberty by others.

As a boy, born within the British Empire I thrilled to the well-known refrain:

"Rule Britannia, Britannia rules the waves."

And Britons never, never will be slaves."

That is true of a typical, stout-hearted Briton, as it is true of their prototypes in other democracies. But until comparatively recent times millions of Britons were in actual bondage. Perhaps you, like myself, visited the criminal ship, "Success," when it lay in the Potomac at Washington.

This was the ship in which the so-called "Tolpuddle Martyrs" in cells and chains were sent as criminals to Australia—eight agricultural laborers, whose only "crime" was that they had combined to seek an extra shilling to their small weekly wage. That was in 1834. It is against that background that one must understand the rise to power of the Labor government in England, as well as some of its extreme and experimental measures.

On this side of the Atlantic at the present hour a great, menacing danger to freedom, if not the greatest, is from gangsterdom and the political corruption that has strengthened it. Yet the public is so little aroused that legislators can vote vast sums against dangers from without are at this moment of writing cutting off funds for the greatest exposure of crime and corruption ever attempted.

How much do we really love freedom?

Soviet Likes Progressives

BERLIN — (P)—The American Progressive Party is the darling of Russian propaganda here—and becoming ever more so as the American Communist Party is crippled and discredited through the arrest of its leaders.

The Progressives are represented as the "peace party" and the standard bearers of all that is fine and good in American political life. The jailed American Communists are represented as "martyrs" and victims of "Truman's witch hunt."

The Soviets soured on the Progressive Party for a time last year when its former leader, Henry Wallace, endorsed U. S. and United Nations armed action in Korea. But when the party turned on Wallace it was back in Russian good graces.

Middlecoff Has 1 Stroke Lead In No-So

Second One Under Par 71 Makes Him Lead Golfing Field

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 9.—Despite a costly lapse that cost him a stroke which might loom large by payoff time Sunday, Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis, Tenn., was top man by one stroke going into today's third round of the North and South Golf tournament.

Middlecoff came up with his second one-under par 71 yesterday for a 142 and a stroke edge over three rivals — Dick Chapman, the British amateur champion from Pinehurst; Jimmy Adams, Scotch member of the British Ryder Cup team and Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C. professional.

Middlecoff's bad hole was the par five eighth, a 488-yarder. After a fine tee shot he was addressing his ball for the second when his iron inadvertently moved the ball an inch and that cost him a stroke. After reaching the green he three-putted for a six.

Smart chipping and putting helped him shave a stroke off the par 72 of the 7,007-yard No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country club.

Although four challengers are two shots away at 144 and four more at 145, Middlecoff's task was made easier by the troubles of Sam Snead and Julius Boros.

Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slugged favored to win his third North and South in a row, withdrew after scoring 78. Boros, of Southern Pines, N. C., also had a 78.

Snead's departure left Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., as the only American Ryder Cup player still in the field. His 145 left him in contention as the field was cut to 80, with 152 the high score, for today's third round.

'Any Deer' Season Kills Total 4,500

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 9.—Missouri's first "any deer" season in 48 years was labeled "highly satisfactory" today.

L. T. Bode, director of the State Conservation Commission, drew that conclusion as estimates of the total three-day kill mounted toward 4,500—a record for modern times. And commission spokesmen said the final count might be even higher.

Bode concluded Missouri is now taking its rightful place among the important deer states of the nation.

Hubbard Tigers Play at Columbia

The Hubbard high school Tigers journey to Columbia today where they play Douglas high school at 8:00 p. m. This is the homecoming game for the Columbia school.

The Tigers have been doing most of their practicing in the school gym this week due to the snow and cold weather. The only outside practice session was held on Monday. The inside sessions were confined to concentrating on fundamentals, conditioning and plays to be executed in the game.

Douglass has an impressive record for the season which the Tigers hope to mar in tonight's invasion of the Boone county territory.

Hubbard's record for the season is not too bad for a small team, which began the season with only seven lettermen and built the team around these players. The lettermen are Tommie Thomas, Carl Whitney, William Eversage, Floyd Payne, Herbert Jackson, Billy Shobe and Billy Hogan, but have made an impressive record this season with the consistency and power of the determined sophomore players.

Aviation Aids Real Estate
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Aviation is having a marked impact on development of outlying real estate around airports. A. N. Kemp, chairman of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., told the recent convention of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

Air trunk lines of the U. S., he said, accounted for 46.49 per cent of the combined airline and Pullman passenger miles in 1950, compared with only 12.36 per cent in 1940.

Kemp listed 1950 passenger revenue leaders as Pennsylvania Railroad $142,374,000; New York Central $116,597,000; American Airlines $100,508,000; United Airlines $81,955,000; Eastern Airlines $69,884,000, and Trans-World Airlines $60,890,000.

Allies Throw-Back Probing Attacks

Reds Mass Armor, Reinforce Troops On Western Front

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, Nov. 9.—(P)—Allied infantrymen, fighting in sub-freezing weather, beat off a series of small Communist attacks last night and early today along the western front where the Reds were reported massing tank forces.

A white frost covered the front. The temperature had dropped to a chilling 24 degrees.

Red Plan Turned-Down

Buffer Issue Still Knots Truce Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, Friday, Nov. 9.—(P)—The Korean armistice talks, tightly tied up on the buffer zone issue, resumed at Panmunjom today.

Suspecting a Red booby trap, the Allied negotiators Thursday "completely rejected" a Communist proposal to fix a demilitarized zone immediately once and for all—regardless of future battlefield changes which might favor the United Nations.

The Allies insisted, however, they were still hopeful, but far from optimistic, of future progress.

Where to draw a buffer zone has been the snag in armistice talks almost since they began last July 10. After the talks were started on Russia's suggestion, the Chinese and North Korean Communists long held out for settlement on the 38th parallel.

They abandoned that demand for the old prewar boundary when the current series of subcommittee talks began Oct. 25.

Conceding that a buffer zone should be based on the current battle line, which is mostly well inside North Korea, the Reds Wednesday proposed that agreement be reached on where that line is and it be firmly fixed. Each side would have a veto power over any subsequent changes proposed by the other.

An official Allied communiqué on rejection of this scheme said it "would have provided in essence for an immediate and irrevocable demarcation line. This in turn would have relieved the Communists from any pressure to reach agreement on other agenda items, deemed essential by the United Nations command to a full-fledged military armistice."

Education Helps Keep Nation's Farm Youth Away From The City

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 8.—(P)—Education and scientific farming have helped stop the movement of young people from farms to cities, Jesse G. Van Sikel said today.

Van Sikel, superintendent of the Kirksville, Mo., public schools, made his statement in an interview. He is attending the Missouri State Teachers Association meeting here.

"Farm youngsters aren't moving to the cities the way they once did," Van Sikel declared. "This is the result of better educational facilities in rural areas. The farm youngsters have learned that farming is profitable and dignified. And more important, that a wide academic and vocational education are essential preparations for a scientific farming career."

Van Sikel, who was born and raised on a farm in Adair county, added the 4-H clubs and Future Farmers association also are important factors in keeping young people on farms.

Coal Miner Killed Near Macon, Mo.

MACON, Mo., Nov. 8.—(P)—Homer Hardister, about 50, was crushed to death today in a rock fall at a coal mine.

It was a startling upset of Tammany Hall. He continued television appearances as commentator for a crime expose program. (AP Wirephoto).

Joint Chiefs Say US Lags In Air Power

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(P)—Gen. Omar Bradley, in a major address on the military strategy of the future, said today the joint chiefs of staff agree "we must buy substantially more air power this year."

Since America's policy is "peace and not war," the joint chiefs' chairman declared, America is at a strategic disadvantage which must be met by preparing for any eventuality.

Addressing the closing session of the American Petroleum Institute's 31st annual meeting, Bradley said:

"Our plans must be made under the strategic disadvantage of reacting to the enemy attack. Our strategy must meet the various capabilities of our potential enemy, and any method of attack which he might choose; and must meet the attack at the time and place of his choosing."

Bradley stated air power alone "can never be decisive in total war," but air battles must be won if a war is to be won.

He hinted that atomic artillery and guided missiles still are in the experimental stage when he said:

"In spite of all the new developments in the field of atomic energy and the various military applications, the airplane continues to be the best method of projecting the power of the atom to the battlefield, and to the heart of any large land-mass nation."

America's greatest security, the five-star general continued, "rests in our national formula for balanced forces and the established international program of balanced collective forces which we are developing under the North Atlantic Treaty organization."

Capehart Amendment Blamed

OPS Revamps Rules On Manufacturers; Many Prices Go-Up

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—Price control chiefs revamped regulations affecting 100,000 manufacturers today and said that generally higher price ceilings can be expected on many consumer goods as a result.

They suggested that Congress is responsible for what may happen.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said the changes were necessitated by the Capehart amendment to the Economic Controls law, which Congress required that gains that occurred from the outbreak of the Korean War to last July 26.

This is the amendment which President Truman denounced as "an economic boobytrap" and which Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) and other backers upheld as simple fairness.

Farm Machinery On List

The affected manufacturers produce a wide variety of things, such as processed foods, furniture, household appliances, farm machinery, chemicals, hardware, hand tools, machine tools and rubber goods.

In other actions today affecting consumers and the people who manufacture things for them:

1. The National Production Authority (NPA) virtually "froze" the introduction of new auto models after next February 1. The same freeze would apply to makers of washing machines, refrigerators and similar appliances. The step was taken through an order reserving machine tools almost exclusively for military and defense supporting production. The action will not affect 1952 model cars, retooling for which was started by the manufacturers early this year.

2. The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) approved new price ceilings at wholesale for lamb, yearling lamb and mutton. It also permitted retailers to figure new ceilings weekly to reflect wholesale changes in the prices of lamb, mutton and veal. OPS officials said the net effect is expected to be higher prices in most butcher shops for lamb, mutton and veal.

3. A halt was ordered in the government stockpiling of tin so that all available supplies can go to industry. The Defense Production Administration, in announcing the move, stated that tin plate made in civil use of tin plate (used in tin cans), brass and bronze, restrictions on brass and bronze use could affect many consumer items, such as hardware and furniture, as well as industrial products.

Two regulations are involved in the manufacturers' field—governing manufacturers generally and machinery makers.

DiSalle said the revisions carrying out the Capehart amendment "undoubtedly will result in some increases in manufacturers' ceilings and permit a generally higher level of prices. We have no choice under the amended Defense Production Act but to allow manufacturers to adjust their prices."

At the same time, DiSalle said a news conference, there may be some price rollbacks for general manufacturers and machinery makers who raised prices faster than costs after the Korean outbreak. There also may be rollbacks in fields where materials costs possibly may have declined since the general price freeze last Jan. 26.

Manufacturers must calculate new ceilings and put them into effect not later than Dec. 19. They must do so under the original general manufacturers and machinery orders issued last spring or under the optional pricing methods provided by the Office of Price Stabilization today. The manufacturers can take their choice, but OPS made plain that once the optional Capehart provisions are selected there can be no switching back to the original orders.

Deer Kill Runs To 4,500 Mark; May Go Higher

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 8.—(P)—Missouri's estimated deer kill for the 1951 season rose tonight to at least 4,500. And the State Conservation Commission spokesmen said that's conservative.

As of tonight, 3,985 legally killed deer had been counted. But four heavily-hunted counties—Gasconade, Washington, Jefferson and Franklin—were still out. That area reported big kills on the first day but after that a heavy snowstorm wrecked communications.

Telephone lines were down, the commission's radio system was having trouble, and many back roads were still blocked by snow.

Almost a sixth of the estimated total state kill was in Taney county—despite the fact farmers there hunting about 50,000 acres against hunting.

Last year, 124 deer were checked from Taney county. This year the total reached 796—including 314 bucks, 411 does and 71 fawns. Taney was one of the 15 counties where hunters could shoot any deer this season. Seventeen others were open for fork horned bucks only.

Although most working stations were closing down late today, searchers continued to comb the rugged Ozarks for stranded hunters.

And there was still no word of 79-year-old Bill Bounds, lost in the rough Low Holler, area of Reynolds county. He disappeared into a snowstorm near the Black river Monday afternoon, first day of the three-day season.

Commission spokesmen said they expected more complete reports late when communications were restored throughout the deer area.

Soybeans Pace Climb Of Most Grain Prices

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(P)—Grains sailed upward today under the initial prodding of a government cotton crop report which lowered estimated production much more than generally expected.

Soybeans were the first to take off on the upswing, but toward the close the rest of the market rose in sympathy with beans. Beans advanced more than six-cents at one time, holding a good part of this gain through to the close.

While no new seasonal tops were scored in beans, all the deferred contracts of corn, oats and rye sold at the best prices of the year. Wheat deliveries halted their rise just under previous seasonal tops.

When closed 5 to 1 1/2 higher, corn 1 1/4 to 2 3/4 higher, oats 3/4 to 1 1/4 higher, rye (new style) 1 1/2 to 2 cents higher and soybeans 3 to 5 1/4 cents higher.

Missouri Navy Pilots Damage Red Railways

TOKYO, Friday, Nov. 9.—(P)—Lt. John J. O'Sullivan of St. Louis, Mo., led a flight of Skyraiders and Corsairs Thursday to score a direct hit on a rail right-of-way linking North Korea's east and west coasts.

Lt. William H. Conboy of Shelbyville, Mo., and Lt. James E. Dagon of Hillsboro, Ill., also hit the tracks with one-ton bombs.

Chill Greeted Mr. Truman In Florida

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 8.—(P)—President Truman arrived in Florida today to be greeted by a sweater-wearing turnout far smaller than the crowds which have welcomed him on nine previous visits.

A ground temperature of 63 degrees was reported as Mr. Truman's plane, the "Independence," landed at the Navy's Boca Chica airport here shortly before noon after an uneventful flight from Washington.

Mr. Truman got an unusual southern welcome at the airport, from White House correspondents who preceded him here in a commercially-chartered plane. Most of the correspondents wore Confederate army, black shoe-string ties and trick mustaches.

They were inspired by a recent Presidential speech in Washington to a group of National Guardsmen, before whom the President recalled his "red-headed grandmother's" pro-southern sympathies during the war.

Mr. Truman boarded an open car for the 8 1/2-mile drive to the big frame cottage which will be his headquarters here for the next four or five weeks.

The turnout was small along the street leading to the cottage station. To Key West, a "cold wave" was on. And there was a question whether Mr. Truman will be able to swim tomorrow at the enlisted men's beach where he likes to go to splash around in the Gulf stream every day.

Virtually all of Mr. Truman's top staff accompanied him. They included Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman and special counsel Charles S. Murphy.

Now Mr. Truman says he hasn't made such an offer for 1952.

A Crack Reporter Wrote Story The Times article was written by the veteran Arthur Krock, chief of the newspaper's Washington bureau, who had the inside track several times in White House news breaks. He is a three-time Pulitzer Prize winner.

Krock told a reported he thought Mr. Truman's remarks were "pretty harsh." He said he was writing a "philosophical piece on denials in general" for publication in tomorrow's Times.

The correspondent, who obtained a headline-making exclusive interview with Mr. Truman last year, said his relations with the President in the past have been "quite close and very pleasant."

Krock said in his article that Mr. Truman made the offer to support Eisenhower during a private luncheon with the general at Blair House on Monday. He said Eisenhower neither accepted the offer nor specifically rejected it. But he said the general implied rejection by suggesting that great difficulties were presented by his fundamental disagreement with Mr. Truman on certain domestic policies, such as labor questions and proposed amendments to the Taft-Hartley act.

Truman Didn't Check Account Krock wrote that he tried yesterday to submit the account of the Truman-Eisenhower conversation to the President for comment, but was unsuccessful.

Truman Denies Recent Report That He'd Step-Down For Ike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(P)—President Truman said today "there's not a word of truth" in a published report that he had offered to step aside and support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952.

Aides at Gen. Eisenhower's supreme allied headquarters in Europe also, discounted the story, published in the New York Times. They called it "purely fictional."

There was not immediate comment from the five-star general himself. Aides said there would be none.

On a broader scale, Mr. Truman's denial gained significance to the extent that it marked an apparent contrast with the situation that existed six years ago.

In his book, "Crusade in Europe," Eisenhower wrote that Mr. Truman did offer in 1945 to support him for the presidency in 1948.

Now Mr. Truman says he hasn't made such an offer for 1952.

A Crack Reporter Wrote Story The Times article was written by the veteran Arthur Krock, chief of the newspaper's Washington bureau, who had the inside track several times in White House news breaks. He is a three-time Pulitzer Prize winner.

Plan Termed 'Ludicrous' By Vishinsky

PARIS, Nov. 8 — (AP) — Soviet Russia rejected the west's new arms reduction plan in the United Nations today. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky clashed head-on with Secretary of State Acheson in a debate which left few delegates hopeful of conciliation.

Vishinsky dismissed as ludicrous, trifling and spurious a joint American-British-French resolution embodying the proposed fool-proof regulation or armed forces and arms, including atomic weapons.

He proposed instead a four-point resolution which would provide for a world disarmament conference by next June 1.

The U. S. Secretary of State has appealed for support of the three-power plan which President Truman commended to the U. N. in a broadcast address from Washington last night.

The diplomatic duel between Vishinsky and Acheson showed no lessening of east-west tensions. Each accused the other's government of responsibility for the world arms race, the Korean War and kindred problems.

They Agree On One Point They agreed on only one thing: the world wants peace.

Both Acheson and Vishinsky ended their speeches with appeals for peace—but both showed clearly they were poles apart on what they meant by peace.

Acheson outlined the western plan this morning and urged a program of arms reduction without "catchwords and tricks." He called on the Russians to give the word for a halt to the Korean conflict and said a settlement of the Korean problem could open the door to broader consultations on other aspects of the Far Eastern situation.

Acheson made it plain the United States will not begin a program of arms limitation, which would eventually include a count of American and Russian atomic bombs if good faith prevailed, until the Korean war is stopped and existing world problems settled.

Vishinsky went to the rostrum when the assembly reconvened in the afternoon and said the big powers of the west had not only given birth to a mouse, but to a "dead mouse."

"I could hardly sleep all night last night because I could not keep from laughing," he said, "even from this rostrum I can't hold back my laughter."

NATO 'Especially Bad' Vishinsky ranged up and down every policy of the United States and the west and found nothing good about any of them, especially the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He then offered a four-point resolution calling for:

1. A finding by the General Assembly that participation in the "aggressive Atlantic bloc" and establishment of foreign naval, army and air bases in any part of the world is incompatible with the principles of the U. N.

2. A cease-fire in Korea, with troops to be withdrawn in 10 days from the 38th parallel and all foreign troops to be withdrawn completely from Korea in three months.

3. To ask all countries, in and out of the U. N., to scrutinize at a world conference the question of the retention of armed forces and armaments and to recommend that this conference convene as soon as possible, at least before June 1, 1952.

4. A big five peace pact to which all other peace-loving states would adhere.

4 Firms Report Daring Thefts Here Thursday

Four daylight robberies and break-ins were reported to Sedalia police within a half-hour time by local business and professional men. Nearly $250 was stolen by the thief or thieves.

The largest loot was taken from the Owen's Tire Company, Seventh and Ohio, at 3:07 p. m. The employees were working in the back of the building when they heard the cash register ring. They looked up and saw a man, described to be between 30 and 40 years old, wearing a blue-gray suit without a hat and of medium build, making a quick exit. One of the employees gave pursuit after a short chase.

Upon investigation by the management, it was estimated that $194 was missing.

The other three robberies took place in the offices at the Ilgenfritz building, Third and Ohio. The only break-in that netted the robber any loot was in the Fischer and Fischer office, where $50 was taken. The other offices entered were Dr. H. B. Hunter's and Jack Crawford's.

"Dear Mrs. Stevens:

"I am writing to regretfully notify you of the termination of your husband's missing status. This action was taken only after careful evaluation of evidence evolved from a recent review of his case by the Department of the Air Force.

"The review just completed was initiated upon receipt of a report from the Commanding General, Far East Air Forces, informing this headquarters of the complete absence of favorable news of Lt. Stevens since he became missing, and that no possibility was now believed to exist that he survived the crash of his plane.

Examination of the events previously reported discloses that on 13 March 1951, your husband was the pilot of a T-6 aircraft which departed Haneeda Air Base, Yokyo, Japan, at 6:49 p. m. to perform an estimated one hour and thirty minutes night proficiency flight in the local area. Approximately 30 minutes later he transmitted a radio report to Haneeda Air Base control tower and at that time he gave no indication that he was having difficulties.

"When he failed to return to the base at the scheduled time, an organized search of the local area and adjacent territory was immediately initiated by Air Rescue Service. Unfortunately, their units were unsuccessful in locating either the plane or any indication of where it might have crashed. The extensive search was suspended on 17 March 1951, when it became evident that further efforts would be unavailing.

"Consideration of these facts and the elapse of more than six months, during which no information has been received concerning the whereabouts of your husband, compels the regrettable conclusion that he did not survive and in all probability crashed with his plane into the waters off the southeast coast of Japan. Accordingly, under the provisions of Public Law 490, 77th Congress, as amended, a final determination has been made that he died 13 March 1951, and an official report announcing his untimely death has been issued by the Department of Air Force."

Did Votes Show '51 Trend?

Republicans Believe Elections Indicate Trend To Them, But Democrats Disagree

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Congress members divided sharply today over whether Tuesday's election results foreshadowed any national trend which would affect the 1952 vote.

Some Republican lawmakers claimed they saw in the returns from around the country an indication their party's star is in the ascendancy and is sure to shine over the White House after next November's election.

Democrats, on the other hand, were inclined to discount all that as wishful thinking. They said Tuesday's balloting reflected local issues almost entirely — even in cases of Democratic successes.

McKinney Sees No Trend
Outside Congress, the new Democratic national chairman, Frank E. McKinney, pointed to what he termed "spotty results" and said, "I'm firmly of the opinion that no definite trend is indicated."

On the Republican side, Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, regarded the outcome as "a big help" for those who want Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the GOP presidential nominee next year.

But Senator Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) declared there was "no national trend toward Eisenhower, Taft, President Truman or anyone else."

Senator Taft of Ohio, so far the only avowed GOP candidate for the presidency, already is waging a vigorous campaign for the nomination. Mr. Truman says he has made up his mind whether to run again, but isn't ready to disclose his decision.

Ike Backers Enthused
Eisenhower backers appear more confident than ever the general will be available for the Republican nomination, even though he carefully avoided making any positive public declaration this week during his quick Paris-Washington round trip.

Tobey, an old Eisenhower-for-President hand, said election results in New York, Philadelphia and elsewhere demonstrated:

"1. That corruption in government is the major political issue of our time.

"2. That the people are looking on their own and independently—outside of 'old guard,' 'regular' party labels—for the means to bring honesty back into public life."

And to prove to the people that the Republicans intend to give the "government by integrity," Eisenhower must be chosen as the party's presidential nominee, Tobey declared in a statement issued through his office here. The senator is convalescing from a stroke at his New Hampshire home.

Election of Rudolph Halley, who was the committee's chief counsel, as president of New York's City Council was cited by Tobey as an example of the public's desire for honesty and integrity in government. Halley copped his victory with splinter party support, defeating Tammany hall's Democratic incumbent and the Republican candidate as well.

In Philadelphia, clean government also was the issue in an election which put a Democrat, Joseph F. Clark, Jr., in as mayor. Republicans had held the post for 68 years.

Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) said, "There apparently was some turn-the-rascals-out sentiment in the voting in New York, Philadelphia and elsewhere, but I don't think it had the slightest national significance." He added:

"There always are rascals in every party and there always will be campaigns to clean them out."

Rep. Bolling (D-Mo.) said that if there was any national trend in Tuesday's voting "it was one bearing out polls which indicate there are a lot of independent voters in the United States."

Fans Enjoy Mat Opener

The 1951-52 wrestling season in Sedalia opened Thursday night with a show which the officials of the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, described as successful. Gus Spartan, the new promoter, was well pleased with the crowd, and the crowd apparently was satisfied with the show.

Two girl wrestlers, who appeared to be on friendly terms at the opening of the match, ended up but anything friendly. Connie O'Connor lost not only the match, but her vanity. Miss O'Connor was on the receiving end of something delivered by Rose Marie Alvarez, which resulted in a dislocation of the eye. After the match she remained in secluded spots so the fans couldn't get a peek at the "black eye."

Girls Agree To Rematch
Miss Alvarez who claims her original home as Madrid Spain, and Miss O'Connor, Toledo, Ohio, agreed to rematch in about two weeks. Miss O'Connor lost the first fall to Miss Alvarez who used a drop kick. Miss O'Connor was disqualified after kicking the referee in the second fall, and she demanded a chance to "clip" Miss Alvarez in an unofficial mission on the card. But a rematch was decided upon.

Neal Warren, Columbus, Ohio, took his one-fall event from George Lippold, St. Joseph, Mo., using a back breaker and smother. The time 16 minutes and eight seconds.

Altman Takes Main Event
In the main event Frank Altman, Seattle, Wash., who was the dream of any football coach for a guard or tackle, displayed his powers by beating Johnnie Dobbs, Omaha, Neb. Altman took the opening fall in 13 minutes and 49 seconds using the bear hug. Dobbs won the second fall using body slams followed with a smother in three minutes and 40 seconds. The bear hug was too powerful for Dobbs, who lost the third fall in 10 minutes and 16 seconds.

Ben Sherer, Kansas City, who was the referee, oversaw the semi-final and final events, was given a tough workout by the contestants.

Chrysler Displays New Model Powered By 310-HP Engine

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—(AP)—A sleek, sports type passenger automobile with a 310-horsepower V-8 engine was shown by Chrysler Corp. today at its annual new model display.

The car, a custom-built model with hard top, is 99½ inches high and rides on a 125½ inch wheel base. Chrysler officials emphasized it is a purely experimental vehicle but the impression persists it ultimately may be offered for sale.

K. T. Keller, Chrysler board chairman, in discussing this possibility, told newsmen: "I've had an offer of $400,000 for it but I want to know a lot more about it before I give the word to put it into production and I'm the man who will make that decision. I don't know how much it could be sold for when we're satisfied with it. Many changes lie ahead."

The car is built on a Chrysler chassis and uses Chrysler production parts, including the engine which is an elaboration of the Chrysler 180-horsepower "firepower" engine used in the Chrysler Imperial, New Yorker and Saratoga. It develops its high power output at 5500 RPM using no special fuels and no super-charger.

Country Editors Pick Ike As Their Choice, But See A Truman Win

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A poll of 2,188 country editors showed today (1) General Eisenhower is their No. 1 choice for President and (2) President Truman leads the field on the question of who actually will be elected. A majority thought Senator Taft of Ohio would be the Republican nominee.

Results of mailed ballots to weekly newspaper editors were reported by the Publishers' Auxiliary, a trade weekly published by the Western Newspaper Union of Frankfort, Ky.

Of the editors who participated, 40.6 per cent said they believed Mr. Truman will be the next president. In this category Mr. Truman got 398 votes, compared with 544½ for Eisenhower and 488½ for Senator Taft. Eisenhower's percentage was 34.9 and Taft's 20.5. Other votes were scattered and undecided.

On the question of whom they personally favor for the Presidency, 666 editors, or 30.4 per cent, backed Eisenhower. Taft was second with 592½ votes, or 27.1 per cent and Mr. Truman was third with 187½ or 8.6 per cent.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood—'Pa Kettle' Pleases Tourists; Strolls on Hollywood Blvd.

By Bob Thomas
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8.—(AP)—For years tourists have expected to find movie stars strolling along Hollywood boulevard and for years they have been disappointed. But now the famed street has its dream boy and his name is Percy Kilbride.

The eagle-nosed, wry-voiced actor can be seen anking up the boulevard every morning. It's a ritual with him. A bachelor, he lives nearby and walking down the big street is his prime exercise, hobby and entertainment.

"I guess I know every cobblestone," he remarked. He also knows every store front, newsboy and orange juice stand. And habits of the boulevard have grown accustomed to seeing his familiar face.

"They usually say 'hi Percy' or 'hi, Pa' or 'hi, Kettle,'" said the actor, referring to his film portrayal. "Once in a great while I will get a formal 'hi, Mr. Kilbride.' That's usually a tourist from Boston."

"I generally can get by just with a greeting, but sometimes I have to stop and chat a while. That can get to be a bore, so I usually act as though I am in a big hurry to get somewhere."

Kilbride is back at work with Marjorie Main in "Ma and Pa Kettle Go to Paris," the latest in a series which appears to have no end. And on wonder. The films are made in a fast 18 days and classes in on methods of crime detection. In a recent lecture he said, "almost every person commits several crimes each week," and blamed "social disintegration" for the prevalence of criminal tendencies.

Sheriff John Ross said the unidentified woman sent him a sealed envelope months ago, with instructions to open it if anything happened to her. Then yesterday she telephoned him to open the letter. Inside, said Ross, was a detailed statement of how four burglaries were committed, signed with Nettler's name.

Nettler denied the charges and denied signing the letter.

Frankie and Ava Married in Secrecy-Shrouded Ceremony

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner stole away to an undisclosed honeymoon retreat today after a mystery-shrouded wedding at an exclusive home in west Germany.

While the couple sipped champagne and feasted on turkey last night, a score of newsmen and photographers tramped the wet pavement outside the home hoping to talk to the bride and groom or to take pictures of them.

But the newlyweds would have none of that. They sneaked in through the back door and three and a half hours later summoned a half-dozen policemen in red cars and a patrol wagon to guard an escape route.

The only information on the wedding itself came from a press agent for Universal studios and from Emmanuel (Mannie) Sacks vice-president of the Radio Corporation of America, who attended the ceremony at the home of Sack's brother, Ernest.

Despite all the secrecy, there was considerable furore about the affair. Frankie threatened to punch a photographer. And there was a wild auto chase in an effort to throw newsmen off the trail.

Neighborhood residents, many of them girls in bobby socks, joined the newsmen in their vain vigil, pleaded with the vigilant policemen for "just one peek" at the couple.

The 10-minute ceremony last night began at 6:45 with Judge Joseph Sloane officiating. Mannie Sacks gave away the bride. Band leader Axel Stordahl and his wife, June Hutton, were best man and matron of honor.

Others in the party were Dick Jones, a friend of Sinatra's, who

British Cut Coal Ration

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—British households will be colder than ever this winter.

The ministry of fuel and power tonight rationed home-heating coal to 1,344 pounds in the north and 1,120 in the warmer south for the three-month period of November, December and January.

Most British homes lack central heating and depend on open coal fireplaces to ward off damp chill that prevails more than extreme low temperatures.

Under previous rationing, the average British family could get 3,584 pounds of coal a year and up to two long tons—4,480 pounds of coke if it was available.

Sea Holds Fate Of Five Sailors Of Burned Ship

Little Hope Left They Survived, But Search Continues

SEATTLE, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The rolling waves of the bitterly cold North Pacific held the secret today of the fate of five missing crewmen of the freighter George Walton.

Despite a continuing sea-air vigil at the scene of the burning ship 390 miles off the Washington coast, little hope remained that the men survived the tragedy which cost seven other lives.

Twenty-four of the 33 men who were driven to life craft when an explosion and fire engulfed the ship Tuesday afternoon and killed three of the crew, were enroute to coastal cities for treatment.

None was reported in serious condition. Four men were lost during rescue attempts by merchant vessels which speeded to the scene; the other five have not been seen.

But the troubled waters of the storm-tossed spot were being carefully criss-crossed by a Coast Guard cutter and navy submarine while an airplane dived continually overhead.

The search did not relax for nightfall and searchlights and flares were used in an ever-widening circle around the drifting, fire-lit ship. Today, perhaps, salvage operations can be started on the George Walton, 13th Coast Guard district officers said. It appears in no immediate danger of sinking and if a line can be made fast it may be towed to the coast.

The survivors, who were pulled from life boats by the Japanese freighter Kenkon Maru and the Panamanian Katherine, were being taken by those ships to a Pacific coast port believed to be Vancouver, B. C.

Midwest's Storm Hit East States, Now Out to Sea

By the Associated Press
Cold weather chilled the nation's snow struck mid-section today and a wind and rain storm which hit the mid-Atlantic states has moved out to sea.

The east coast, buffeted by gale force winds, heavy rain and sleet, saw the storm shift from the land to Atlantic waters off New England. The storm at its height swamped an area stretching from North Carolina to Maryland.

As the storm moved seaward, special warnings were posted for shipping.

There was some snow and showers in the New England area.

This was the same storm which had earlier in the week given the Midwest a snowy deluge, snarling traffic in metropolitan areas and taking a heavy toll on icy highways.

Only light snow fell in the Midwest today — over the lower lakes region and upper Ohio valley. But temperatures were low with Chicago and St. Louis at a freezing 18.

Freezing temperatures also were reported last night in the south Atlantic and east Gulf states.
